Segments:

Flavors Segment to Lead the Market Due to its Unique Properties

By type, the market is bifurcated into flavors and fragrances. The flavors segment is further categorized into natural and synthetic. The fragrances segment is also divided into natural and synthetic.

Food & Beverage Sub-Segment to Dominate the Market

Based on type (cross application), the market is segregated into flavors used in the food & beverage sector for beverages, bakery, confectionery, dairy, and others. These flavors are also used in pharmaceuticals and other sectors. The fragrance segment is further classified into fine fragrances, cosmetics & personal care, home & floor care, and others.

Geographically, the market share is segmented into North America, Europe, Asia Pacific, Latin America, and the Middle East & Africa.

Drivers & Restraints:

Rising Development in Pharmaceuticals & Cosmetics Sector to Propel Growth

The market is expected to witness significant growth during the forecast period due to the developing regional and novel flavors and fragrances. Also, consumers' changing food preferences and tastes and the adoption of ready-to-eat food are anticipated to fuel the regional market growth. Furthermore, growth in the cosmetics and pharmaceuticals sectors is expected to drive market growth.

However, constantly changing prices in various products hamper market growth.

Regional Insights:

Europe Holds Dominant Market Share Due to Rising Demand from Food & Beverage Sector

Europe dominates the global flavors and fragrances market share due to the rising product demand from food & beverage manufacturers. The regional market stood at USD 8.16 billion in 2021.

Asia Pacific holds the second-largest global market share owing to the increasing demand for flavors and fragrances from various end-use industries.

Competitive Landscape:

New Product Launch Allows Key Market Players to Enhance their Product Portfolio

The key market players acquire various companies operating in the industry to improve their business performance. Also, rising investments in the adoption of technological advancements and R&D activities allow the leading market players to introduce new product ranges to the global market and increase business profitability.

Key Industry Development:

December 2023: Robertet Group acquired Bangalore-based flavors and fragrances manufacturing company Sonarome to expand its flavor offerings and market presence in India, Southeast Asia, and East Africa.
